The first illustrated scholarly work devoted to the reception and reputation of Edinburgh's premier Enlightenment portrait painter Sir Henry Raeburn 1756-1823 is especially well known in Scotland as the portrait painter of members of the Scottish Enlightenment. However, outside Scotland the artist rarely makes more than a fleeting appearance in survey books about portraiture. Ten international scholars recover Raeburn from his artistic isolation by looking at his Overall these essays offer thoughtful and often provocative assessments of Raeburn's art in the context of his times and his place in British cultural history. They attest to the current vitality of Raeburn studies scholarship soon to be augmented by a modern
