By Jim Tomlinson : Dundee and the Empire: 'Juteopolis' 1850-1939 Dundee and the Empire: 'Juteopolis' 1850-1939:

How did the people of Dundee respond to the challenges of being the most economically globalized city in the world in the years before the First World War. The answer to this question is complicated by the fact that the aspect of globalization which impacted most directly on the ordinary inhabitants of Dundee was competition in the jute industry from Calcutta a city within the British Empire of the early 20th century. Dundee had to cope not only with powerful local competition but also with the impact of the Great Depression. A concise and detailed analysis of how one city's fortunes rose and fell with those of Britain and the empire, how it responded to these changes and challenges and how it attempted albeit unsuccessfully to shape Britain's response to them.
